

Performing Arts Covid-19 Resources

creative capital

Creative Capital supports innovative and adventurous artists across the country through funding, counsel, gatherings, & career development services. They have created a tremendous list of current resources for artists working in all disciplines, as well as arts philanthropists, and arts professionals. These include:

- Online Workshops
- National Grants
- Local Grants
- Additional Resources

<https://creative-capital.org/2020/03/13/list-of-arts-resources-during-the-covid-19-outbreak/>

The Actors Fund, for everyone in entertainment.

SiriusXM Broadway host Seth Rudetsky and producer James Wesley hold a daily live streamed concert series, Stars in the House, to promote support for The Actors Fund and its services in the wake of the coronavirus pandemic. New shows air daily at 2pm and 8pm (ET) and feature stars from stage and screen. Stars in the House will stream daily until Broadway re-opens.

<https://www.starsinthehouse.com/>

Broadway Cares/Equity Fights AIDS has launched a special online fundraising campaign to create the COVID-19 Emergency Assistance Fund. This special fund assists those in the entertainment community – onstage, backstage and behind the scenes – who are facing health care crises and other immediate needs in the wake of the evolving coronavirus pandemic.

More than 20 Broadway producers are offering a $1 million challenge match to double the impact of donations to the fund.

<https://donate.broadwaycares.org/campaign/covid-19-emergency-assistance-fund/c276873>

League of American Orchestras

The League of American Orchestras has information on their website including League Member Discussion Group, Executive Consultations, Federal Assistance and much more. (Scroll down the page to get to the links.)

<https://americanorchestras.org/component/content/article.html?id=409001>

Behind The Scenes provides financial support to entertainment technology industry professionals, or their immediate dependent family members, who are seriously ill or injured. Grants may be used for basic living and medical expenses.

<https://wp.behindthescenescharity.org/>

Compiled by:
stages

OPERA AMERICA

Opera America has a terrific Resource List for those in the Opera field including Employer Relief Provisions, Advocacy Actions, and a thorough resource tracker.

<https://www.operaamerica.org/content/about/covid19.aspx>

Broadway World launched "Living Room Concerts" for people to watch Broadway performers. The videos encourage viewers to donate to Broadway Cares/Equity Fights AIDS, as well as the Actors Fund, an organization that provides assistance to people in the entertainment industry in distress.

<https://www.broadwayworld.com/>

PLAYBILL

Relief Efforts: Playbill has created this site to update the theatre world on fundraising functions, relief efforts, industry news and isolation-friendly entertainment.
<https://playbill.com/coronavirusupdate>

Streaming Service Support: Theatre companies have found a way to ensure that the show will go on—at least on screen—by offering streams of its current shows. Patrons can now support these organizations impacted by widespread closures and have a chance to catch the shows, even during mass gathering restrictions.

"These new streaming agreements help protect the economic security of Equity members with additional weekly salaries and health care contributions," said Actors' Equity Executive Director Mary McColl. "When theaters go dark, actors and stage managers face tremendous economic uncertainty. A streaming agreement can be a win for everyone, from the audience to the actors and stage managers."

<https://playbill.com/article/how-to-support-a-theatre-company-and-stream-a-show-while-social-distancing>